

Kidnaper Of Detroit Woman Hunted For Murder At Pontiac

CHICAGO — (AP)—Search for an ex-convict who abducted a woman while fleeing from Michigan on a murder charge turned to Chicago today.

Chicago detectives searched hotels and transit terminals for Warren Lee Irwin, 27, who abducted 42-year-old Doris Myers in Detroit, Mich., Tuesday night and drove her through five states. She escaped from her abductor yesterday morning in Durant, Ia.

Irwin is wanted on a warrant charging he murdered Mrs. Adele Shagena, 37, of Pontiac, Mich. June 8.

Flies To Chicago

FBI agents said yesterday that the car in which the ex-convict kidnaped Miss Myers had been found at a small Davenport, Ia., airport.

FBI agents said the car's driver, identified as Irwin, had chartered a light plane and had flown to Chicago, where he arrived at the Municipal airport early yesterday afternoon.

Irwin, authorities said, was wearing blue denim trousers, a tan shirt, and black shoes. He paid for the flight by peeling money from a large roll of bills.

The warrant issued at Pontiac Tuesday charges that Irwin shot and killed Mrs. Shagena, a housewife, in a wooded area near Pontiac June 8. A constable identified Irwin's picture as that of a man he saw walking toward the woods with Mrs. Shagena that day.

Threatened With Gun

Miss Myers last night told of her harrowing 15-hour ride across Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa with the fugitive.

She said Irwin told her that her mother and his mother were friends. She said he induced her to drive him from Detroit to Toledo, Ohio, on the pretext that his mother and sister had been hurt in an accident and were in a Toledo hospital.

When they got near Toledo, Miss Myers said, Irwin threatened her with a gun and ordered her to "turn around, we're heading west."

When they stopped for gasoline, Miss Myers said Irwin held the gun low and threatened her, asserting that "I've already killed two people and I'll kill you if you don't keep quiet and play dumb."

Several times they stopped at roadhouses for food, she said. Each time he would follow her into the restaurant, holding the gun on her through his pocket.

Escapes From Restaurant

Miss Myers said she escaped at Durant, Ia., when Irwin went into the men's room of a restaurant and she ran out the restaurant door.

"I ran down the street and saw a woman," she said. "The only thing I could think of was a place to hide. I asked her and she pointed across the street."

"I ran across the street and behind some houses. I saw a farm implement shop and ran inside. The men wouldn't believe me at first but they hid me."

"Irwin came looking for me. He asked at a welding shop next door, but they said they didn't know where I was. Then Irwin went off."

Miss Myers got in touch with authorities and was taken to West Liberty, Ia., where she told her story to the FBI. She was enroute home by train today.

Navy Prepares Guam As Base On Asia Front

Fleet Could Move In Within 48 Hours

By LEIF ERICKSON

GUAM—(AP)—If a major war should break out in Asia, Adm. Arthur W. Radford could move his U. S. Pacific fleet headquarters from Pearl Harbor to Guam within 48 hours.

One major purpose of the navy's development of its Guam base since the end of World War II has been to make it a standby fleet command post.

Fleet headquarters would move to Guam—and quickly—whenever close direction of major naval forces in Asian waters should become necessary. The island was Adm. Chester Nimitz' headquarters for the two Jima and Okinawa campaigns in the closing months of the Pacific war.

$200,000,000 Project

The time for moving forward—3,600 air miles west of Pearl Harbor—would depend on when the navy's action missions became more important than its mission of supporting forward troops as in the Korean conflict.

For instance, should a full military blockade of the China coast and amphibious landings there be undertaken, Pacific fleet headquarters likely would shift to Guam. But Pearl Harbor would remain logistical support headquarters.

The navy has spent about $130,000,000 in building up Guam since V-J Day. Projected work will run the total over $200,000,000.

Ten years ago, when the Pacific war started, Guam was a puny defense post quickly lost to the Japanese. The navy in 1941 had begged $4,000,000 from a reluctant Congress. The island was lost before any money could be spent on a seaplane base.

Sea Support Essential

When World War II ended, the navy planned a Gibraltar-like defense bastion costing nearly $1,000,000,000.

But that program quickly was chopped down by shrinking military dollars and new evaluations. This was done under the doctrine of mobility perfected by navy carrier and amphibious task forces against the Japanese.

Successful conquests of Japanese island fortresses, including Guam, proved that island positions could not be held without full sea and air control.

So Guam's role today is not one of defense.

It is a strategic hub inside the major islands lying close to the Asian mainland—Japan, Okinawa, Formosa and the Philippines.

Guam is about 1,500 miles from all the islands on that outer Pacific defense ring.

That is close enough for et-

Faulty Shells Kill 8 Marines

Mishap Injures 23 At Camp Lejeune

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.—(AP)—Two defective mortar shells fell short and burst into a company of advancing Second Division Marines here yesterday afternoon, killing eight and injuring 23.

Witnesses said the mortar gunners saw that the shells were defective a split second after they were fired during a routine training exercise at this big Marine base in eastern North Carolina about 50 miles northwest of Wilmington. The gunners leaped to field telephones and notified a forward observation post. But before the warning could be relayed, the shells exploded among the forward group of the weapons company.

Bitter members of the company told a reporter they did not blame the mortar section, but felt that defects in the ammunition could have been noted by careful inspection.

General Clifton Cates, Marine Corps commandant, was visiting the base when the accident took place about 1 p. m. (EST). He ordered an immediate investigation and a board of inquiry was appointed.

Enemy Needs Fresh Troops For Offensive

Peace Rumors Thicken After Year Of War

TOKYO — (AP)—Allied officers on the western front today predicted a new Communist drive by Monday, first anniversary of the Korean war.

U. N. officers said the Reds no longer were able to mount a major offensive without fresh reinforcements from Manchuria. But, they said, all signs point to a "limited offensive" within the next few days.

Allied Planes Lost

All fronts were quiet today. Minor patrol clashes were reported in the west and center. On the eastern front, Reds made light probing attacks.

For the first time in five days no Communist warplanes were aloft.

The first four days this week the Reds roared across the Yalu river from Manchuria into flaming battles in the North Korean skies.

Far East Air Forces (FEAF) announced three Allied planes were lost in their fights. An American Sabre jet and a Mustang fighter were shot down. Another Sabre jet was missing.

List Communist Losses

FEAF revised Red losses downward. The corrected total listed 24 Communist aircraft destroyed or damaged, instead of 28. Nine were listed as shot down (six MIG-15 jets, two Stornovik attack bombers and a Yak fighter), one probably destroyed and 14 damaged. The damaged craft were mostly swift Russian-made MIG-15s.

Vote Due Friday On $7,200,000,000 Record Tax Bill

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON — (AP)—A record-breaking $7,200,000,000 tax bill came before the House today slightly behind schedule but still due for a vote late tomorrow.

Under procedure approved by a one-vote margin yesterday, the House must accept the bill as amended by the ways and means committee, or reject it as it stands. No amendments will be permitted by individual members of the House. General debate must close by 3 p. m. (EST) tomorrow.

The final vote is expected shortly thereafter and Republican leaders agree with the Democratic majority that the bill probably will be sent to the Senate unchanged. The Senate has not yet begun consideration and isn't expected to act until fall.

The bill would pile a 12 1/2 per cent "defense tax" on top of the regular income tax on individuals for a $2,847,000,000 revenue gain over a full year's operation. The change would be effective Sept. 1.

Increases in corporate income and excess profits taxes, retroactive to Jan. 1, are counted on for an additional $2,855,000,000 and excise tax boosts for $1,252,000,000, with the balance coming from miscellaneous changes in the tax laws, including source withholding of taxes on dividends, royalties and some interest payments.

The proposed excise tax boosts, to be effective shortly after final action, include: gasoline, from 1 1/2 to 2 cents a gallon; automobiles from 7 to 10 per cent of manufacturers' price; whiskey from $9 to 10 1/2 a gallon; beer $8 to $9 a barrel; cigarettes from 7 to 8 cents a package; sporting goods from 10 to 15 per cent of manufacturers' price.

A few taxes would be cut or abolished. The levy on telegrams would be reduced from 25 to 20 per cent, the tax on electric current would be repealed, and baby oils, powders and lotions would be exempted from the toiletries tax.

June Primary Bill Vetoed By Governor

LANSING — (AP)—A bill which would have advanced the primary election from September to the third Tuesday in June was vetoed today by Governor Williams.

The measure was pushed through the legislature with Republican backing on the grounds that it would give more time for servicemen overseas to vote by absentee ballot in the November election.

Actually, Republicans admitted in private that the measure was designed to give Republican candidates for office a better chance to campaign against the governor and U. S. Senator Moody (D-Mich.), whom the Republicans say are already campaigning for reelection.

The bill, the governor said, "goes far beyond the admitted needs of our servicemen and can result only in confusion and voter apathy."

The governor said that advancing the primary would require candidates' nominating petitions to be filed about April 1 when the legislature probably would be in session.

He added that the trend in other states has been toward later primaries because there is greater voter interest in a "short but intensive election campaign."

The governor said that army authorities report that no more than 45 days is needed for the returning of absentee ballots by overseas servicemen.

Obituary Burglar In Chicago Sent To Prison For 10 Years

CHICAGO — (AP)—Chicago's "funeral burglar" has been sent to prison for 10 to 15 years.

Nevin Johnson, 37, pleaded guilty and was sentenced yesterday by Judge William J. Tuohy, of criminal court. Judge Tuohy said that "only a man without a conscience could commit the crimes this man has committed."

Johnson carried lists of newspaper obituary notices. He burglarized homes while the occupants were attending funeral services for relatives.

Kocna pleaded guilty to drunken driving and reckless driving.

Seamen Reject 2 Wage Offers

Shipping Tieup Goes Into Sixth Day

NEW YORK — (AP)—Idle seamen have brushed aside two wage boost offers to continue their original demand for a 40-hour week and send the American shipping tieup into its sixth day.

After a joint negotiating session between shippers and CIO unions broke up late last night, a union spokesman said the length of the work week at sea "is the main thing holding us up."

In New York the unions chalked up yesterday the following concessions from the shippers:

A pay raise "equal to eight per cent of base wages in effect Jan. 15, 1950."

A 44-hour work week at sea, with continuance of the present 40-hour week in port. The present work week at sea is 48 hours.

A 30-day contract extension to end the shipping tieup.

A two-year contract and not a three-year agreement as first proposed by the shippers.

Three weeks vacation with pay for a man employed continuously by one company. A paid two-week vacation for men in the industry for a year, but not employed by one company. These benefits were acceptable to the unions.

Crude Rubber Price Cut 14 Cents A Pound

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The government today sharply cut the price of crude natural rubber to industry from 66 cents to 52 cents a pound—effective July 1.

"I trust that now industry will see that the consumer shares in this saving," said General Services Administrator Jess Larson, whose agency became sole U. S. importer of rubber in December.

Vandals At School

JACKSON — (AP)—Four school buildings under construction here are being guarded by police and night watchmen to keep down vandalism. Work on the buildings has been slowed by broken windows, gouged blackboards, removal of putty from window frames and broken shingles.

Crackdown Tightens On American Red Ring

NEW YORK — (AP)—The government's second big crackdown on American Communist leaders widened today following the roundup of 17 members of the party's second team.

More junior commissars are due for prosecution, authorities indicated.

Out of 21 Red leaders indicted here yesterday, four still were sought today.

A hundred FBI agents in 25 autos seized 16 here early yesterday, and a 17th was arrested in Pittsburgh.

The roundup came 16 days after the U. S. supreme court affirmed the convictions of eleven top Communist leaders.

A total of $191,000 bail, ranging from $1,000 to $20,000—was set late yesterday for the 16 arrested here. The Pittsburgh prisoner was held in $15,000 bail for removal to New York.

Fifteen of those arrested here, including four women, remained in jail overnight.

The 21 are charged with criminal conspiracy to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

The indictment was the first mass prosecution of Communists since the June 4 supreme court ruling unholding constitutionality of the Smith Act, under which the eleven top Red leaders were convicted in 1949.

The 21 were indicted for allegedly taking part in the same conspiracy for which the eleven were convicted. The 21 face sentences up to five years in prison and fines of $10,000 if convicted.

Miami Gambling Setup Reviewed

Senate Sleuths Back For Second Look

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—The Senate crime investigating committee returns today for a second look at this area's gambling picture.

A public hearing was set for 9:30 a. m. (EST) in a room on the fourth floor of the county courthouse. About 20 witnesses scheduled to be heard today, tomorrow and possibly Saturday.

Sen. Herbert O'Connor (D-MD), committee chairman, promised an answer by noon to the latest invitation from Gov. Fuller Warren of Florida to hear him in Tallahassee. Warren declined three invitations to appear at the Miami hearings. Last night he renewed his invitation for the committee to meet him in the capital. O'Connor said there was no possibility of that.

"I have no personal information regarding relationships between organized criminals from other states infesting Florida as stated in your telegram," Warren said in a message sent through his press secretary, Loyal Compton.

"Gambling, which had openly operated in Florida for more than 50 years, has been suppressed by my administration."

Senators Hostile To Truman Request For More Powers

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Senate Banking committee today approved a wage-price control bill denying President Truman most of the broad new control powers he requested, and forbidding price rollbacks beyond the average for Jan. 25-Feb. 24.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC), said the action was taken by a 12-1 vote of the committee, Senator Dirksen (R-ILL) casting the lone dissenting vote.

The present defense production act, authorizing price, wage and other economic controls, is due to expire June 30.

The Senate restriction would hold future beef price rollbacks to two per cent instead of the nine per cent price stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle has ordered added to the recent 10 per cent rollback on live cattle prices.

DiSalle said last night that adoption of the amendment would cost the American public at least $2,500,000,000 a year.

Declaring that it could only mean a "rolling forward of prices," the price chief told the international circulation managers of the United States and Canada that the amendment would "penalize the American people beyond any measure dictated by necessity or reason."

The House Banking committee, which earlier in the week voted to cancel the 4 1/2 per cent beef price rollbacks scheduled for Aug. 1 and Oct. 1, approved yesterday a one-year rent control extension. Rent controls, now provided in a separate law, are also due to die June 30.

Iran Determined To Oust British Oil Company Signs Smashed By Mob

TEHRAN — (AP)—Premier Mohammad Mossadeqh won a vote of confidence from Parliament today amid demonstrations against the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

Crowds invaded the company's offices and tore down its signs just before Mossadeqh went before Parliament with a warning that violence might follow if the legislators failed to support him. They gave him a 91-0 vote of confidence.

Mossadeqh told Parliament he will "proceed to take over the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., because the country demands it." He sought the vote of confidence as a token of nation-wide approval of his policies.

The Premier's indirect warning of Nationalistic disturbances was made while his supporters were traveling around Tehran smashing company signs and shouting slogans such as "death to the oil company," "Down with the British" and "Long live Mossadeqh."

Williams Teams Up With Moody

Senator Urges Public To Fight Inflation

DETROIT — (AP)—Sen. Moody and Governor Williams teamed up here last night in a plea to citizens to help the fight against inflation.

Their specific proposal, delivered to the Michigan Federation of Labor convention banquet, was that the public get after Congress by letter and telegram.

Moody and Williams urged this to stop what they called an attempt to scuttle government economic controls.

The new senator repeated earlier charges that certain Republican groups were "trifling with the nation's economy in a time of peril."

He again named the National Association of Manufacturers and cotton and beef interests as parties to such an effort.

Moody also mentioned the 1952 political campaign.

Without elaborating, he said he had been threatened with "heavy financial opposition" in 1952 if he continued his present policies.

FAST AND ACCURATE—Joining a growing number of Michigan counties, Delta has installed a photostat machine for copying certain records. Miss Mary Constantineau (left), Delta county clerk and register of deeds, and Miss

Mary Jane Belanger, deputy register of deeds, examine a photostat copy as it comes from the new machine in the register of deeds office at the court house in Escanaba. (Daily Press Photo)

Delta Recording Work Speeded By Photostat

Deeds, mortgages and other instruments of record for filing in the Delta register of deeds office are now being copied photostatically—saving time and money and assuring accuracy.

The photostat machine purchase was authorized last fall by the county board of supervisors. A special committee selected the machine, similar to others now installed in 30 Lower Michigan counties.

Cost of the machine was $3,377.10 from the Photostatic Corporation, Rochester, N. Y., and with supplies for approximately one year totaled $8,911.70 installed.

Charges Are Reduced—Fifty-eight counties in the Lower Peninsula and two in the Upper Peninsula now have some type of photostat recording device in their register of deeds offices. Delta and Marquette are the only two in the Upper Peninsula.

Miss Mary Constantineau, Delta county clerk and register of deeds, said the photostat machine makes possible a reduction of the rate charged the public for recording deeds and certain other instruments.

With new forms on which all of the information is contained on its face (rather than the old forms with information on two sides) the page can be copied by photostat at a lower rate.

The rates for recording, set by the state, are $1 for "one-page" forms used in photostat, compared to $1.75 for the old two-page forms.

Cut Waiting Time—The photostat machine requires but one operator. Miss Jane Belanger, deputy register of deeds, supervised by the register of deeds, will operate the machine to record an average of about 150 pages per week in Delta county.

Maximum time in service to the public on documents in the register of deeds office will be one week, and often it will be not more than a couple days.

The machine has a maximum capacity of 600 pages per day, ample to serve the needs of the county for many years to come. All of the developing and fixing processes are within the machine and no dark room is required as with some photostat copying equipment.

Accuracy Is Assured—From the time the document to be recorded is exposed until the photostat copy is dry and ready for filing in the vault is two hours and six minutes. About two hours of this time is consumed in rinsing the copies in clear water and then in drying them.

Use of the photostat machine eliminates all typing in the recording of documents and therefore avoids the possibility of any error.

Photostat copies occupy about one-half the space in the vault compared to the old forms, thus conserving vault space and reducing the number of filing books or bins required.

The machine is adaptable and can make 14 by 18 inch prints actual size or enlarge or reduce by 30 per cent either way. Following the initial rush of work at the court house the photostat service will be offered to the public.

Changes In Bus Schedule Okehed

Abolition Of Planning Board Urged

The Delta Transit company last night was authorized to discontinue unprofitable bus routes for the summer months. The approval was granted by the Escanaba city council at its regular meeting after bus line officials explained that most of the runs to be eliminated were designed to serve school students during the school year. The runs will be returned to the schedule in the fall.

The council also approved the request of the Delta county road commission for a veterans' housing building for erection at Pioneer Trail park. The building will be provided by the city and transported and erected by the road commission. The city is closing down the veterans' housing project as rapidly as possible and removing the buildings as they become vacated by tenants.

Vacation Proposal Deferred

A bookkeeping procedure to balance the veterans housing account also was approved. The city owes funds to the federal government on the collection of rentals and the federal government in turn owes funds to the city for maintenance of the property and for payments in lieu of taxes. The two accounts balance each other, permitting a closing of the veterans housing account. The property is now owned completely by the city, the federal government having relinquished its rights.

A recommendation by the city civil service commission that city employees be granted three weeks vacation after 15 years service was deferred by the council to the next meeting. At present city employees are entitled to three weeks paid vacation after 20 years service.

A petition with approximately 1100 signatures requesting the abolition of the city planning commission and the appointment of a city zoning board was presented to the city attorney for analysis with a report to be made to the council at its next regular meeting.

A petition for the installation of a street light at the intersection of 16th avenue north and Stephenson avenue also was presented to the council. City Clerk George Harvey reported that a similar petition was approved by the council last March but the project was deferred to July 1 because of the city's financial position.

Schedule Busy Summer For Escanaba Boatmen

Additions to the local fleet of pleasure craft, particularly in the power division, promise increased activity at Escanaba during the summer boating season this year.

This season also marks completion of facilities at the new Escanaba Yacht Club house at Sand Point. It is open to visiting yachtsmen as well as to EYC members and friends.

Always a popular port for boatsmen, Escanaba also has a program of activities annually sponsored by the Yacht Club. This summer's organized program begins with special events sailing parties for writers who will attend the national convention of Outdoor Writers here in late June and early July.

Fayette Harbor Light
Of interest to all boatmen, including operators of commercial as well as pleasure craft, is a recent announcement to the Escanaba Yacht Club.

At the request of the EYC and the Lake Michigan Yachting association the U. S. Coast Guard has approved placing of an electric or gas lighted buoy off the entrance to Fayette harbor on Big Bay de Noc. The light will be used in navigating along the Garden peninsula coast as well as for entering Fayette, a harbor popular with Lake Michigan yachtsmen.

During the summer season at Escanaba Ernest Newhouse, city park department employee, will serve as harbor master.

Many New Boats
Many changes in ownership and the purchase of new boats are reported among Escanaba boatmen this spring.

John Bissell is the owner of a new 34-foot Higgins twin screw cruiser, powered with a 125 H. P. motor. It has not yet been named.

Edwin Swenson, Mrs. Simone Dahlberg, Mrs. Knute Nelson, Eskil Swenson and Mrs. Lottie Dahlberg, all of Strandburg, S. D.

Louis Tremblay purchased at Sault Ste. Marie the power cruiser Roamer, a 27 foot six inch craft, and has his 26-foot power cruiser Hi-Ball up for sale.

Ray Newman of Ford River road added another boat to the local power fleet by purchasing at Garden the 26-foot, 45 H. P. cabin cruiser he has named the G-Ray-Ce.

Outboard Class Grows
Wallace J. Smith of Escanaba and K. F. Lea of Milwaukee are now the owners of the Vellamo, 28-foot power cruiser purchased from George Newton of Iron Mountain.

George Petersen recently purchased from H. J. Norton of Escanaba a 25-foot express cruiser.

Family pleasure craft powered with outboard motors are increasing in number locally, with several additions to that class at Escanaba this spring.

Howard Timms is owner of a 14-foot Thompson, powered by a 10 H. U. outboard; and Emil Zitner is shaking down his new 18-foot steel hull boat in trial runs. Zitner built the boat himself and powered it with a 40 H. P. motor.

Schedule Sail Events

Escanaba Yacht Club's schedule of events for the summer begins with sailing parties for delegates to the Outdoor Writers of America on June 30 and July 1.

July 4 will be marked by outboard motor boat races sponsored by the Yacht Club, with the annual 21-mile sailing race, and the seagull class finals for the Gust Asp trophy scheduled for the same date.

From July 22-26 the EYC cruising race will be held. Sailing craft from Green Bay ports will participate in the race that will take them from Escanaba to Washington Island, Ephraim, Fish Creek, Sturgeon Bay and Menominee.

The annual autumn regatta is scheduled August 25; and the Washington Island cruise Sept. 1-2 will close the season.

John Groos Attends U. S. Army School

John Groos, son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Groos of 1015 South First avenue, left yesterday for Camp Belvoir, Va., where he is enrolled in the U. S. Army's topographical survey school.

He completed his studies in special education this year at Michigan State Normal, Ypsilanti, and received his degree in January.

Following enlistment in the Army and training at Camp Leonard Wood, he was transferred to Camp Belvoir for special training in topographical survey.

Release Of 100,000 Enlisted Reservists To Start In July

WASHINGTON—The army hopes to release by December about 100,000 enlisted reservists called to active service since the start of fighting in Korea.

Announcing this, Secretary Pace said the program will start in July, rather than in September as originally planned, with release of a small number of reservists.

Pace said the release program affects men who were volunteer and inactive reserves when recalled to duty, but not members of the organized reserve, national guard or regular army volunteers. The army said that while no hard and fast formula will be followed, preference for release will be given to (1) World War II veteran and (2) men with other prior service.

National Achievements Mean Individual Efforts

WHAT can I do about it? With a resigned air, many of us ask that question when we're confronted by a problem that seems too big and broad to feel the impact of a single individual's efforts.

Some may say it about crime in their local communities, some about war, others about signs of moral decay all the way from the family level to the national government.

When you look at it closely, this attitude really is out of place in a democracy like ours. It appears to assume that history is made only by the great, or at least, the powerful men. It suggests that the ordinary man contributes little to the stream of events that make up a nation's life.

But in truth this nation and its achievements are the sum of the individual efforts of everyone of us. Take away one man of character and ability and you have subtracted from the total on the credit side. Add one man of weak moral fiber and you have increased our liabilities.

In this view of history and national life, no man's energies are lost. What he does affects not merely his own welfare; it either advances or slows the progress of the nation. Taken together with those of all his fellows, these energies comprise the country's living fabric. And they form a bridge in time, carrying the national life from one era to the next.

Knowing this to be so, no man who has lived to the fullest of his capacities need feel he has lived in vain simply because he has not achieved fame, or even success as the world marks it. If it were not for him and every other man who has done as well, there would be nothing for the great men to lead, nothing to build upon.

To those who ask: "What can I do about it?" the answer is clear. It's this: plenty.

Maybe you're not the kind who organizes or joins committees bent on "getting something done." What of it? Your influence for good will still be felt if you live a personal life that does not contribute in any way to magnifying the problems you see about you.

You're distressed about crime in your city? All right, then don't do anything that will put a single penny in the pockets of the gangsters you'd like to be rid of.

You don't like some of the politicians who hold office? Well, get out and vote for better men. Don't say the "machine" can't be beaten. It's been beaten any time the people have made up their mind to beat it. And all that means is a lot of individuals like yourself deciding to get up off their comfortable chairs and go down to the polls and vote.

You're upset at the evidence of moral decline? Okay, make sure first that you yourself are living by principles of fairness and honor in all your dealings. Then, try to lead your family down the same path. If you've done nothing more, you have thereby made certain that one family is observing sound moral standards.

We live in a troubled world that often gets us down. But things aren't hopeless, and never were. Any single one of us can make them better tomorrow, by adding substance to our own character and using the abilities we have.

Detroit Transit Strike Is Ended

THE Detroit transit strike of 59 days duration ended in the only way it could possibly have ended—with the union failing to force a settlement on its own terms. The strikers who lost an average of $750 in wages because of the walkout, voted to submit the issues to mediation or arbitration.

As the strike progressed it became apparent that the union had miscalculated the effect of the strike. Only in the early days of the strike was traffic badly snarled and transportation acutely disrupted. As near normalcy returned to the industrial life of Detroit, it was plain that the city which operates the transit lines could hold out indefinitely against the union pressure. The union, on the other hand, could not hold out longer because the union members on strike were getting in tough financial circumstances.

The strike itself was needless and unjustified. The pay schedule of the Detroit Transit company is among the highest in the nation and the difference between the city's offer and the union's demand was not so great as to warrant a disruption of transportation service. It was proposed at the outset that the issues be submitted to arbitration. The 59 day strike accomplished nothing constructive.

Grandma's Birthday By Gordon Martin

There's a meeting of the clan when Grandma's birthday comes along, and there's uncles, aunts and cousins and their children in the throng. They have come from miles away to help her celebrate the day, for she's reached the age of ninety with a spirit-bright and gay. And it's marvelous the way she looks across the fleeting years, and remembers well the long ago and all its hopes and fears.

Now she's really more than Grandma—she's Great Grandma to the kids, and a lot of fuss is something that she modestly forbids. She's a gal who plowed the prairies and who pioneered the plain, and an independent lady she declares she will remain. But she glories in her family and likes to call to mind, all the days of toil and hardship that she long since left behind.

If a strapping son would joke with her, she puts him in his place, and she's still the ruling matriarch in lavender and lace. Why, she tells him, mind your manners, or, young man, I'll make you dance—don't forget that I'm your mother and I used to change your pants. Yes, it's quite a day when Grandma reaches four score years and ten, and she's earned a spot in heaven for the mothering of men.

MAKIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The ladies of the Air Force are getting more and more wrathful over Jacqueline Cochran's report that the WAFS aren't glamorous or shapely. Miss Cochran, who is the wife of Wall Street financier Floyd Odlum, but who operates a cosmetics business on her own, has submitted to confidential report to Air Force Chief Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, describing the WAFS as "tattered," "bedraggled" and even "cross-eyed."

To say that this has the ladies of the Air Force in a hair-pulling mood is putting it mildly. They have retaliated by calling Miss Cochran "Stonewall Jacky," and even go so far as to suggest that since her husband, as head of Consolidated-Vultee, manufactures the B-36, Miss Cochran should not have been called into the Air Force even for consultation.

Stuart Symington, when secretary for air, was criticized by some Navy men because he spent one night at the ranch of Floyd Odlum and Jacky Cochran. Navy men have claimed that orders for the B-36 came out of this visit. Now the irate WAFS are digging up the B-36 all over again.

A new shakeup in the WAFS has just taken place as a result of Miss Cochran's "glamor" report, and Miss Mary Jo Shelly of Bennington College, Vt., has replaced WAF commander, Col. Geraldine May, who opposed Miss Cochran's conclusions. However, the furor continues.

WHAT JACKY SAID

Miss Cochran came into the Air Force on temporary duty to advise General Vandenberg, and submitted her report from Lackland Air Base, Texas. Though Jacky's general conclusions leaked out and spread like wildfire among the WAFS, her report has never been published and only a few top WAFS have seen it. This column, however, has obtained a copy.

"It is estimated that about one-third of all the enlisted personnel that have been indoctrinated at Lackland are not fit material," she summed up bluntly. "I personally came across a WAF who was approximately 4 feet, 9 inches tall, and who admittedly weighed 134 pounds. This is far too much weight for the height, but what is even worse, she is much out of proportion as to bodily profile, and in addition, she is cross-eyed."

"And I was informed that this type of error has been duplicated many times," she added in horror.

Miss Cochran's opinion of WAF officer candidates was no higher.

"I met and talked with approximately 30 O. C. S. trainees, and was certainly not impressed with their physical appearance or grooming," she reported. "In fact, three or four women in the group seemed out of balance, weight for height."

MORE "BODILY PROFILE"

Miss Cochran suggested that WAFS should be at least 61 inches tall, but not more than 72 inches. In order that they appear more ladylike, she also suggested abolishing the 30-inch marching step. But most important, she stressed "bodily profile."

Whatever difference is allowed over or below the standard weight should be based upon the bone structure, the distribution of weight and the muscle tone of the applicant," she laid down the standards for shapeliness. "... Stress should be given in recruiting literature to the physical profile required for applicants to the WAF."

Miss Cochran also insisted something must be done about WAF clothing.

"I have seen several hundred of the WAFS at Lackland, and they are the most tattered, bedraggled persons I have ever seen in the service," she complained. "The fatigue uniforms which were being worn by the trainees at Lackland were of at least six different varieties, and were exceedingly poor in appearance and unattractive. These WAFS are certainly anything but a credit to the Air Force in the present non-uniform clothing they are forced to wear."

In fact, Miss Cochran urged that "No further recruiting should be done of WAFS until adequate clothing not only in dress uniforms but in fatigue uniforms is procured."

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

London—Jacqueline Cochran delivered an American-made Hudson bomber to Great Britain today as the first woman trans-Atlantic bomber pilot and at once upset the routine of silence clamped down by somber and careful British officials upon the ocean plane ferrying flights.

Escanaba—Acceptance of Wayne Crebo, 15, 1409 South Fifth avenue, for his first season at the National Music Camp at Interlochen was announced yesterday by Doctor Joseph E. Maddy, camp president.

Glastone—A crew of municipal workmen were engaged yesterday in constructing a railing on the side of the yacht harbor. Posts are being set and they will later be painted and strung with chain. This is being done as a safety factor for the Rolo July 4-6.

Manistique—Social security payments to Schoolcraft county recipients in the form of aid to dependent children, old age assistance and aid to the blind now total $5,416.50 monthly.

20 YEARS AGO

London—The Prince of Wales was 37 years old today. Except for the thousands of telegrams delivered at York house, the heir to the British throne treated the anniversary like any other day.

Ironwood—The 44 planes of the Third Michigan Air Tour set down on the Ironwood airport for an overnight stop today after a careful but uneventful flight from Crystal Falls.

Electric Brain Counts Noses For Tally Of United States Census

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA—The greatest electrical brain of them all has just been completed for the U. S. Census Bureau.

Called the Univac—Universal Automatic Computer—it begins to solve problems where all the other electrical computers and counting machines leave off.

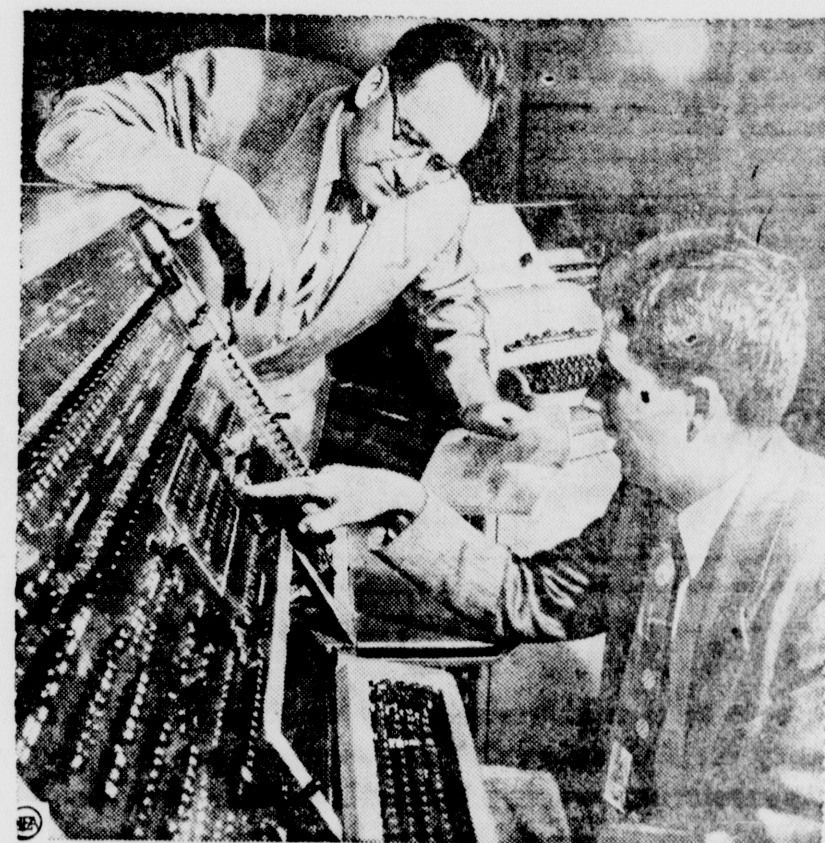

It is the first electronic computing equipment designed for statistical and business uses as well as for the solution of complicated mathematical problems. It was constructed to meet specific problems of the Census Bureau in summarizing and computing mass statistics at high rates of speed.

Census officials estimate that it will save thousands of man hours in producing statistics vital to war planning and to the country's business firms. For instance, in a split second it can provide for Selective Service the exact numbers of men in the U. S. in various age, city, farm and family groups from the last census totals.

For the Pentagon, the Univac could correlate hundreds of supply figures which come in from bases all over the country and give exact answers on how much and what to purchase for immediate needs and for future planning. The machine will be able to provide answers to problems of guided missile, atomic weapon and jet power research.

In addition to solving some of Uncle Sam's complicated problems, economic and business trends can be analyzed and recorded. Accounting and statistical problems can be solved swiftly and accurately from data formerly too complex to be handled by ordinary computing machines.

The machine, which is really a "mercury memory," it includes the "Unitypers," which records instructions and data, the "Uniservo," which transfers the instructions and data to magnetic tape, the central Univac, which performs the intricate computations, and the "Uniprinter," which presents the final result of the operation in printed form. There is a master control panel which regulates the whole operation.

It was built for Census under the direction of the National Bureau of Standards by the Eckert-Mauchly Computer Corp., a division of Remington Rand.

system of machines, contains 5400 electronic tubes and seven pools. The two scientists who developed the Univac, Prof. J. Presper Eckert and Dr. John W. Mauchly, also conceived the famous wartime "Eniac" for the U. S. Army to make almost instantaneous computations of the trajectory of shells, as well as solve other military problems.

Despite the machine's extreme complexity it occupies floor space only 14½ feet long, 7½ feet wide and stands only eight feet high.

Federal and private conservationists, eager to perpetuate the unique species, regard 200 as the critical minimum number to insure continuation of the clan. To bring the Key deer census to this figure, they propose a protected refuge of 10,000 acres—15.6 square miles—on and near Big Pine Key, where land values are still low.

A bill to provide such a refuge died last December with the 81st Congress. Re-introduced early in the present session, it was in the House legislative hopper as June began.

Scientists labeled the Key deer Odocoileus virginianus clavium. The name is translatable as "Virginia whitetail of the keys," and indicates that it is a subspecies of the Virginia white-tailed deer, its widespread mainland neighbor. The conviction grows, however, that the virginianus should be dropped, since the Key deer can stand alone as a species.

The Key variety does not change color in summer, as does the larger whitetail. Its horns are quite different, and other characteristics make it more like some western species than like its common eastern neighbor. Adult Key deer, on the average, weigh 35 pounds and measure less than two feet high at the shoulder.

10,000-Acre Refuge Proposed. Rugged and resourceful in the face of most natural obstacles, the Key dwarfs will not breed in captivity, and are easy prey for the gun-toting poacher and his dogs.

NO DEMERITS—The American Automobile Association recently released to the newspapers a blurb citing Escanaba "favorably for its pedestrian safety activities during 1950."

The only activities we observed during 1950 to reduce pedestrian traffic deaths was that pedestrians jumped higher and wider than they did in 1949. This activity on the part of pedestrians was encouraged by gas-happy motorists, not by any observable stimulus of city government. The pedestrians either had to jump or get their tails caught.

We have no intention of detracting from Escanaba's "splendid record of no pedestrian deaths in 1950," as the AAA reports it. All we desire is to give credit where credit is due.

AND NO DEATHS—It is with a feeling of regret that we must report the increasing agility of our pedestrians.

Unfortunately indeed, because if there was a well defined traffic safety program carried on, the people of the city would have heard about it before this and possibly the pedestrians might have relaxed their vigilance. In that event they would not have had to jump so quickly.

On the other hand (or foot, depending on how you jump), it was fortunate the pedestrians kept in training. Otherwise the 1950 no-pedestrian-deaths record would never have been attained.

For it is our opinion, based on observation, that Escanaba's absence of pedestrian deaths last year was due to chance and the pedestrian's own efforts.

NOTHING ORGANIZED—The chatter about "Escanaba's fine pedestrian protection" is so much window-dressing.

The city does not have an organized traffic safety program now, and it did not have one in 1950. A program of sorts may be started before this year ends, and we will tell you about that.

That program, briefly, is one of uniform reporting of traffic accidents, conforming to a model code recommended for all communities in the state. It will require the cooperation of traffic law enforcement officers and the courts to be effective in adequately penalizing violators of the traffic laws.

Maintenance of records, with penalties recommended on the basis of accident seriousness and frequency, should put some drivers out of pocket and perhaps out of circulation.

NO CRACK DOWN—From the pedestrian viewpoint the uniform traffic law violation report system is a long-range program, promising much for the future of street and highway safety by weeding out habitual violators.

No immediate improvement can be anticipated and the pedestrian should keep in training. To this end he will continue to do end runs and low hurdles through Ludington street traffic despite red stop lights at intersections.

He will also keep in training by sheer show of effrontery. This will be demonstrated by crossing in the middle of the block, holding up his hand as a stop signal to motorists, and generally showing those so-and-so people in cars that he has just as much right to violate the traffic laws as they have.

Pedestrians can do all these things with impunity, for to our knowledge they will not be molested by the law.

WATCH YOUR STEP—While the law is ignoring the antics of the pedestrians, it also turns its eyes the other way when stunting convention delegates tie traffic in knots on the main street. There is nothing that exceeds the depth of Escanaba's hospitality, not even the importance of traffic safety.

For the record we must report an increasing number of arrests for traffic violations in Escanaba in the past year, a steady application of pressure to the careless and reckless driver.

The same attention to jay-walking, defiant and hop-skipping pedestrians also would be helpful. But then it might not. After all, not one pedestrian was bumped off last year.

READERS' CORNER

Q. In our small church (about 250) the question arises as to the proper way of addressing our minister. We think "Mister" is not appropriate; "Doctor" won't do, for he holds no college degree; "Pastor" somehow doesn't sound right; "Preacher" sounds slangy; "Reverend" is not good usage, so we have heard. So what are we to do?

A. Well, of course, any adult American male is a "Mister"—do we not correctly say "Mr. President, Mr. Truman, Mr. Secretary?"

However, in your care I do feel that "Mister" is a little too formal. And you are right in your belief that "Reverend" is not good usage. "Reverend" is not a title, but an adjective of respect, meaning "to be revered." One may correctly speak of a minister as "the Reverend John Jones," but one should not address him as "Reverend Jones."

I see no fault in simply calling him "Brother Jones," a friendly and quite proper term which is used in small churches and lodges all over the country.

As a matter of fact, one of the dictionary definitions of "brother" is: "A fellow Christian or coreligionist, especially a member of the same congregation or religious society."

Q. Why is a shortened form of "omnibus," which literally has no connection with a vehicle. Omnibus is a Latin word meaning "for all." The bus boy originally was called "omnibus boy," for the reason that he performs services for all—the diners and the waiters—taking away soiled dishes, and generally tidying up the tables and dining room.

Are you troubled with the distinction between that, which, and who? Frank Colby's leaflet, C-8, gives four rules to guide you to correct usage. For a copy, send $10 in coin to Frank Colby, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 10, N. Y.

Fire Loss Set At $24,964,345

Death Toll 257 For Michigan In 1950

LANSING—(AP)—Fires took 257 lives in Michigan last year and destroyed property valued at $24,964,345, the state fire marshal's office reported today.

The death toll was 62 higher than in 1949 and the fatalities included 65 children and one fireman, the annual report said. The monetary loss involved increased $2,056,086.

Local fire departments reported a total of 51,039 fires in their summaries sent to the state fire marshal.

The alarms included 15,738 dwelling fires with damage to the structures estimated at $6,837,387 and to contents at $2,582,462. Loss in buildings other than dwellings totaled $9,168,501 and the loss of contents cost $5,544,972.

A breakdown of various other types of fires included: automobiles, 7,297; aircraft, 42; dry cleaning plants, 141; bulk storage plants, 102; house trailers, 257; schools, 114; theaters, 73; and grass fires, 8,987.

Firemen answered 9,089 false alarms during the year. Careless smokers were blamed for causing 3,351 fires.

Other leading causes for fires were children playing with matches, improperly burning rubbish, misuse of petroleum products, defective electrical appliances and wiring, defective heating equipment and chimneys and overheated stoves, furnaces and boilers.

Vacation Dangerous Days For Children, Warning To Parents

LANSING — (AP)—Summer vacation days are dangerous days for youngsters of the pre-teen and teen ages, parents are warned.

Forty per cent of the accidental deaths of children five to 14 years of age occur during June, July and August, the state health department said.

Running into the street or playing in the street, crossing streets carelessly and bicycling in the streets constitute the greatest dangers to children, fatality figures showed.

Deaths through automobile crashes and accidental drownings rate the next highest as killers of children. Fires, falls and accidents with farm machinery also figure high in the fatality records.

Parents should stress safety by advice and example, the department said. Enrolling the child in a supervised park or playground program was suggested as another good safety precaution.

Last Run Is Made By Narrow Gauge Train

LAST TRIP of the narrow gauge San Juan Express.

AP Newsfeatures
CHAMA, N. M.—The Nowhere Flyer is no more. It is believed to have been the last scheduled narrow gauge passenger train in the United States. For several months it puffed daily on a 60-mile round trip between Chama and D. Ice, another hamlet in the New Mexican mountains.

The beginning of the end came last Jan. 31. Then the San Juan Express was abandoned. Since 1881 it had made the 200-mile trip from Durango to Alamosa, Colo. But to make the trip it had to go through part of New Mexico. And the railroad did not have the permission of New Mexican officials to abandon that part of the line.

So the Nowhere Flyer continued to run between the two New Mexican hamlets. But it carried no passengers except an Indian occasionally who wanted to get from one town to the other. It was easy to prove that the run was a losing proposition and permission to stop it was given to the Denver and Rio Grande Western.

In the early days the sourdough miners, the engineers and the pioneering capitalists of the west had ridden in style on the road which tapped the fabulously rich silver country around Durango, in the southwestern corner of the state. As the mines petered out so did the passenger travel. Freight haulage, while down, has held up enough for the line to be kept in service and provide Durango with its only railroad connection.

In an effort to bolster the trade the railroad renovated the ancient equipment more than 10 years ago, but it still was a losing proposition. Citizens along the line, particularly at Durango, put up a bitter fight to save the train, but lost the battle against cold red figures.

Durango ignored the passing of the San Juan express and only a few amateur railroad fans and sentimental railroad officials, made the last run. The creaking wooden coaches with their gay 90's brass and luxurious appointments will be put in storage. They will be brought out to make the San Juan run during tourist season if there is any demand.

At one time there were 5,000 miles of narrow gauge track in the United States, operated by 86 companies. The Rio Grande had the greatest stretch of this, built because it was thought that standard gauge track was too wide for use in the Rockies. Narrow gauge tracks are only 3 feet apart as compared to 4 feet 8 inches, the standard for today's U. S. railroads. Placing the tracks closer together cuts down the cost of building roads in difficult places and also increases the ability of locomotives to pull trains up steep grades.

Originally the D. & R. G. W. narrow gauge was built from Denver to Alamosa, center of the Fertile San Luis valley. It was part of an ambitious plan to connect Denver and Mexico City.

But at Alamosa, the stories of the wealth to be had in the silver country in the high mountains changed the direction of the road. Construction was resumed in 1880 and so frenzied was the rush to tap the rich metal country that the 200 miles of road to Durango were built in less than two years.

During the late years of the 1800's, the narrow gauge network had spread over the Rockies, following close on the heels of gold and silver strikes and crossing most of the important mountain passes in Colorado.

The decline in mining and opening of highways spelled death to most of the tracks, although a few have survived as freight lines.

Spectacles Unbroken In Six-Story Fall

DALLAS, Tex.—(AP)—R. T. Shiels leaned from a sixth floor window to watch work on a paving project. His reading glasses slipped from his pocket and plunged toward the street.

After the six-floor fall, the glasses dropped through the foot-wide opening of a water tank on a moving truck. The truck stopped and the glasses were fished out of the water unbroken.

He's grown—fast!

Pearl Harbor—1941. Korea—1951. Only ten years. But in that time the Bell System's capacity to serve the nation has literally doubled!

And in the same period the Long Distance telephone network which ties America together has grown even more. In 1941, there was very little coaxial cable in use. Radio relay was still in an experimental stage. Yet today there are 8,000 miles of coaxial cable in service—plus thousands of miles of radio relay. And Long Distance telephone circuits have increased in ten years from about 4,300,000 miles to 20,300,000.

In times like these, telephone lines are defense lines. For they are helping America rush its big production program. It's fortunate this nationwide network has grown so big, so fast.

To help speed your Long Distance call, please give the operator the out-of-town telephone number.

Telephone lines are busy with national defense.

Five Nominated For UMT Study

Commission To Draft Vast New Program

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Russell (D - Ga.) promised speedy Senate approval for President Truman's five nominees for the national security training commission.

This is the first of a number of steps that must be taken before a long-term program of universal military training (UMT) for most young men of the nation can start.

The president announced his five nominees Tuesday at the time he signed into law an extension and expansion of the draft act linked with a foundation for the UMT program.

The senate armed services committee and then the senate will consider these five nominees to the special commission:

Former Rep. James W. Wadsworth (R-N. Y.), a veteran of both the senate and the house who has been a longtime advocate of a strong national defense; Will L. Clayton, former undersecretary of state and a cotton broker; Karl T. Compton, former president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and in 1947 chairman of a presidential commission that recommended UMT as an "urgent necessity"; Admiral Thomas C. Kincaid; and Lt. Gen. Raymond S. McClain.

The commission must spell out details for the vast UMT program, such as policies of training and discipline, a code of conduct, benefits for dependents and similar program.

The commission's report must reach congress within four months and the senate and house armed services committees must act upon them promptly, sending them on for floor consideration.

Actual training cannot start un-

Wedding at Eben

CHATHAM—A wedding of interest to residents here is that of Miss Lenore Jalonen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jalmer Jalonen of Eben and Walfred Waldo, also of Eben, which took place Saturday evening, June 2, at 7:30 in the Finnish Lutheran church, Eben, with Rev. Frank A. Pelkonen of Marquette officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with jonquils and lilacs for the service. Mrs. Carl Zeno played the traditional bridal music and accompanied Wilho Wertenan of Marquette who sang "Teach Me to Pray" and "O Perfect Love."

Bridal attendants were the bride's sister, Vivian, who was maid of honor, Miss Irene Karasti and Miss Grace Knox, Munising, bridesmaids, Clarence Rivers who was best man, Oswald Salmi and Reinold Lampi, groomsmen, Elaine Tuimala, flower girl, Gary Maki, ring bearer, and Edwin Jalonen and Allan Ahola, ushers.

The bride wore white slipper satin, the gown styled with a sweetheart neckline and long train and a fingertip veil caught to a tiara of orange blossoms. Her pearl necklace was the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of mums. Her attendants wore pastel pink and green and carried arm bouquets of blue and white flowers.

The mothers wore blue ensembles with white carnation corsages.

The reception for 100 guests was held at the bride's home.

The newlyweds will live in til the president or congress cuts back the required active duty service of inductees to six months, or drafting of men under 19 years old is halted.

This probably will not take place until the present expansion of the armed services terminates or the present international tension ends.

Detroit. Both are graduates of Eben high school.

Shortages Of Beef Spur Cattle Thefts

(By The Associated Press)

Shortages and the high price of beef have contributed to a new outbreak of cattle thefts in western Michigan, police reported Wednesday.

State police of the Manistee post said they were holding two men in Mason county jail, Ludington, for investigation in the butchering of an 800-pound steer on a farm near Free Soil.

South of Cadillac in Wexford county a 1,000-pound Guernsey cow, apparently trucked away from a pasture, was being hunted by state and county police.

In Lake county sheriff's deputies had a report of a heifer stolen from a farm near Baldwin.

Sale Of Sleep Has Odd Twists

Variety Of Posters Used By Trade

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—The uses of psychiatry as a sales gimmick are many and varied, but have seldom been used so successfully as in the sale of sleep. The merchandisers of slumber have practically arranged it so you're afraid to hit the sack without a bumper crop of their gadgets and gizmos.

"A skilled psychiatrist," says a sign in the sleep shop of a firm called Lewis & Conger, "can root out night fears if you have the time and the money, but..." And then goes on to tell you how to build security with a neon night-glow lamp, a personal siren burglar alarm, instant room inter-communication devices, instant vigil lamps, instant fire signals, and, wonderful to behold, a "book for deconditioning night fears."

Many Kinds Of Beds
A variety of posters call your attention to the psyche and its ramifications. "Freud versus Sleep Shop," says one. "What do your positions signify?" I can answer that one easily. It means the old lady has rolled over again and I am trying not to fall off the bed.

There are all sorts of beds available, of course. There is the "tete-a-tete bed, to promote cultural exchange." There is the "veto bed, for ambivalent mates," whose subhead says "sometimes I hate you, sometimes I love you." This bed offers either "reassuring proximity or cooling aloofness." In short, it is a big bed.

Of course, there is a "freedom crib" for the kiddies, a "thermostat-controlled haven for the modern baby. It looks more like an aquarium than anything else, but I suppose the modern child thinks he is a fish anyhow after a certain amount of scientific indoctrination.

I like particularly the "mattress clinic," which asks rather rudely if "you are a monogamist if you seek a mattress forever faithful." And the sign in the pillow clinic which asks: is your pillow too boxy? I'll thank you to mind your tongue, Lewis & Conger. It just happens I like big pillows.

The onus, as is usually the case these days, is placed firmly on the male. "Does he smoke rashly in bed?" And the one for "wistful wives"... "does he fall asleep at the wrong time?" Here in one stroke is a double-barreled accusation of built-in guilt of homicidal carelessness and overweening callousness.

One Honest Placard
L. & C. asks you balefully if the night stirs fear, and warns you that the conditioned childhood terrors are not easy to shake without some help from their 1-0001 solutions to sleeping problems, such as semi-hypnotic recordings, cards to keep the neighbors quiet, and a "compatibility bed" which affords "consoling proximity without constraint." Some of these days teacher is going to wash out L & C's mouth with soap.

"TAKE IT AWAY," BERLINERS SAY—Germans in the U. S. sector of Berlin have asked permission to remove this Russian tank erected as a memorial by the Reds on Potsdamer Chaussee prior to partition of Berlin in 1945. The tank, resting on a white marble base, shows traces of pith from a recent attempt by anti-Communist Berliners to burn it.

Mr. Norman Dine, the sleep genius who compiles these come-ons, has succumbed to a fit of honesty in one placard. This says that if you can relax you don't need the sleep shop at all, a rather rash admission for a man who condemns rashness in smoking in bed. He may be right, though, and I offer him a recipe for relaxing.

Rap yourself gently over the head with a bottle of bourbon until the eyes begin to blur. Have yourself conveyed to the bed chamber and pull off your clothes. Leave the clothes as they fall on the floor.

Place your head on a pillow that does not necessarily have to be fickle, sybaritic or too boxy. Open the mouth. Snore, pull all the blankets over your bedmate, if any, and thrash wildly about, kicking, swinging arms and grinding your teeth.

I have been sleeping successfully for years, and this is my recipe for relaxation, and I have not yet been to the clinic to learn whether my mattress is forever faithful. I don't care what the damn thing does when I'm out of town so long as it don't bite me when I am trying to catch a little rest.

Burglar Beats Alarm

DETROIT — (AP)—A private burglar alarm system told police its men reached the office of the Somborg Metals Co. three minutes after an alarm went off there. But the burglar had fled with $1,200 after prying open a door and a desk drawer. On the record, he completed the job in three minutes.

Short Gowns For Dining, Dancing

By GAILE DUGAS
NEW YORK—(NEA)—The short dance dress, gaining in popularity for the summer, may be formal or informal. It has, without a doubt, a longer and more varied life than the formal gown. It's pretty, easy to wear and suitable for many occasions. Further, many short dance dresses are now convertibles. They come equipped with little ruffled capes that can also be worn as aprons, with their own matching dusters, with brief boleros or with attached stoles. Thus, the length of their stay in a wardrobe is automatically lengthened. The evening duster, incidentally may be in two layers of colored organdy — chartreuse over turquoise, for example. It may also be up matched layers. That is, pale blue cotton lace is layered over nylon tulle. Colors are frequently refreshing. Thus, an orange velvet belt may appear as accent on navy-and-white silk organdy, or sugar plum, deep red-violet, may be used as contrast for chalk white. Complete, careful attention to detail and graceful lines mark the new short evening dresses designed by Eisenberg. One of these dresses (left) is pure silk organza in black over aqua silk. Chantilly lace is set into the full, flattering skirt. The neckline is wide and square, and looks right with cap sleeves. Black velvet encircles the waist. Pure silk pin tuck organza (right) in navy over pink silk makes another of these dresses. The neckline is a deep, wide V. Solid organza crescents band a billowing skirt.

Juvenile Golf Begins Tuesday

Hall And Kasun To Be Instructors

Manistique's juvenile golfing program, conducted by the city recreation commission in cooperation with the Indian Lake Country club, will start next Tuesday morning, it is announced.

Golfing sessions will be held on Tuesday and Thursday mornings during the summer, with A. F. Hall in charge of the Tuesday group and John Kasun, jr., instructing and handling the Thursday play.

Busses will collect young golfers at Central school at 9:30 a. m. and at Lincoln school a few minutes later. The golfing group will be returned to Manistique at noon.

Boys and girls 10 to 16 years, inclusive, are eligible to participate in the program. They are requested to provide their own clubs, if possible. Some clubs, however, are being donated or loaned for the program, and these will be available at the clubhouse.

Any local golfer who can lend or donate an old club, particularly an iron or a putter, is invited to do so.

It was reported yesterday that approximately 20 boys and girls had registered for the program. Any child 10 to 16 years, inclusive, may enroll whether or not their parents are club members.

May Enlist Now After Pre-Induction Notice, Recruiter Announces

Selective service registrants may now voluntarily enlist in the army or air force even after they have taken or been notified to take pre-induction physical examinations, it is reported by Sgt. Charles McQuary, local recruiting officer.

Announcement of this was made in Detroit by Major Harry G. Drapeau, Michigan's army and air force recruiting officer.

Quoting Major Drapeau, Sgt. McQuary said: "Prior to the issuance of the new order, which goes into effect for one month from June 15, men who had received their notice for physical exams were automatically denied the right to enlist voluntarily. Now, only those who have received notice for actual induction are ineligible to enlist voluntarily."

Men desiring to enlist before they receive their induction notice are requested to visit their nearest U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting office immediately.

Caucus At Star Opera House Was Colorful Event In Gay Nineties

(This is the eleventh in a series of Articles on early days in the Manistique area.)

(By W. S. Crowe)

We will go back to the Star Opera House, where everything of general community interest took place, and look in on the Republican caucus for nomination of village officers.

The atmosphere is so thick with tobacco smoke you could cut it, and big brass cuspidors stand around here and there. The old timer who can't hit one at 15 feet just doesn't "belong".

There are 800 to 1000 men on the floor. The only furniture a long table down in front and a few chairs for the "tellers", because nobody ever sits down at these caucuses.

Nothing secret about the voting. "Slips" are printed in advance; each "leader" passes them around among his followers; the tellers pass through the crowd with tall silk hats into which the voters drop their ballots. When all have voted, the contents are dumped on the long table and the tellers, (with the leaders scrutinizing closely,) sort and count them. The "Chairman" announces the result, the slips are dumped in the waste basket and that is that. Everything open and above board. —Maybe.

No Women

No women. Although women had begun to show signs of intelligence, they hadn't yet reached the point where they could be trusted with the ballot.

Nomination is tantamount to election because every man prominent in the community (except perhaps the five or six Democrats led by Carley Coon, always "so busy" that "busy as Charley Coon" became a community by-word and is still heard now and then) will be there with their followers: Denny Heffron, suave and smooth, and a very likeable fellow; George Holbein, editor of the Pioneer-Tribune, (the opposition paper always referred to him as "Bean Hole"); W. C. Bronson with the Methodists and church people behind him; T. J. Macmurray, editor of the "News" (and grandfather of the present screen star, Fred Macmurray; "Charley" Mersereau with a personality which would charm a wooden Indian; Geo. Frankovich and Geo. and Frank Lasich with their Austrians, Poles, and Hungarians; "Nels" Johnson, "Yah, he bane gude faller. I vote like he say" (Not quite all the Scandinavians voted "like he say" however); Ben Gero and W. F. Crane, rival lumber inspectors and politicians; "Walt" and Fred Orr, and Frank Cookson with their Yankee draws and lumberjack followers; "Patsy Mack", an Irishman out of politics is like a fish out of water. My dad's parents came from Ireland, and I used to get a great kick listening to Patsy Mack and Rev. Rooney, the Baptist minister, who were great friends. The above were only a few of the colorful characters present at these caucuses.

No Company Tickets

Organizations of political influence were the G.A.R., the various lodges, the churches, the saloons. The "company" exercised a large influence, but a "company ticket" would have been defeated altho 95% of the community's business depended on the company.

This was America all over. Politics were strictly local, and Washington or Lansing had nothing to do with local politics or the affairs of individuals, their job being to provide national defense and security. Nothing like it in Europe where the only parties were rulers and ruled. And, when folks talk about the "terrible danger" and the "war of survival" we are in, and especially about the way our war secrets are being stolen, I think of these words (Kipling's, I think):

They copied all they could follow.

But they couldn't copy my mind.

So I left them sweating and stealing.

A year and a half behind.

I have a lot of faith in the American Boy's resourcefulness and initiative, and mechanical know how, and backbone of 150 years of freedom on his own, and if we can only keep in the American Way on which Washington, Jefferson and Franklin, et al, started us, I do not think we have much to fear from any outside source. Our future is up to US, not Russia.

Bottles in Ceiling

The Star Opera House is now part of the Manistique Garage. The unobstructed floor space was 53 x 90 feet. The original wooden roof trusses support the ceiling in which we can still see the mouths of 42 empty beer bottles set bottom side up with their open mouths projecting downward through the ceiling in order to improve the acoustics for lectures, graduation exercises, etc.

Ernie Carlstrom told me about these bottles. I had never heard of anything like that, so I got Wm. Stephenson, who works there to climb up with me into the space between the ceiling and the roof peak, and we managed to unfasten a couple of them and they are now on display in the Daily Press' Manistique office. It was as hot as a dutch oven up there, and a very dirty job with the accumulated cobwebs, dust, and grimy dirt of over 75 years. The names of two prominent Menominee business men are stamped in one of the bottles, Leisen and Henes.

These overgrown village caucuses continued until Manistique became a city (in 1901), and voting precincts were established in four "wards", each ward electing two "aldermen", and all the wards together electing a mayor, and this system continued until the City adopted a charter and the City Manager plan.

Once during an indoor ball game in the Star Opera House, a visiting player batted what would have been a sizzling home run straight down the center of the diamond, but it struck one of those overhead trusses, bounced back and was caught by Jack Williams—the only time I ever heard of a batter being robbed of a home run by the catcher of the opposing team.

Local Flume To Be Drained

Job Slated For July 4th Week

Manistique's picturesque flume, which channels Manistique river water between high concrete walls to the paper mill, will be drained during the Fourth of July plant shut-down, it is announced by R. G. Hentschell, manager of the Mead Corporation, Manistique division.

The flume will be drained to permit changing of the trash racks at the pulp mill where water enters the water wheel pits for hydro-electric generation of power.

Trash racks are 28 feet long, and the width to be replaced is 236 feet. The work will be done under the supervision of C. R. Meyers and Sons company.

The draining of the flume will provide an unusual spectacle not only for local citizens but also for the many tourists who will be here during that week, Hentschell said. There is always speculation as to what may be found on the bottom of the canal, and draining the flume will tell the story, he stated.

The flume floor also will be cleaned of accumulated debris during the period the canal is drained.

The flume was drained two years ago at which time the walls were thoroughly overhauled.

At a recent meeting of the city council it was announced that the city would install an emergency water supply line to the flume during the draining period. This would enter under the flume and would serve as standby water if the gravity main fails to function.

Narrative And Skit At Ishpeming Convention Portray Inland Works

Several Manistique women presented a historical narration and skit of the Inland Lime and Stone company at a Royal Neighbors convention yesterday in Ishpeming.

The narration and skit, written by Mrs. F. T. Burgess, reviewed the story of the Inland company and described the scope and some of the details of its operations.

At the close of the narration a brief skit was presented depicting a conversation between two Inland men and a group of visiting ladies. Those taking part in the skit were:

Mrs. Dean Deloria, narrator; Mrs. Peter Kasbohn, who acted the part of Jack Wilde, Inland foreman; Mrs. Rainey DeMars, portraying the part of Don Arrowood, an Inland employee; and the following women who portrayed lady spectators at a quarry blasting operation: Mrs. Hector Popour, Mrs. Emery Reichhoff, Mrs. Ernest Demars, Mrs. Edna Swanson, and Mrs. Henry Archey.

Miniature Quarry

Included with the presentation were stage effects to dramatize the narrative story, including a miniature electric train, a shovel, crane, trucks, bulldozers, stockpiles of stone, and a miniature boat in Inland harbor.

Some of the descriptive passages in the narration concerning Inland follow:

"The quarry is located at the northern tip of Lake Michigan, a few miles off US-2 between Gulliver and Blaney Park.

"One must have lime to make steel; this is obtained by processing the limestone. Inland Steel alone uses 22 percent of the limestone processed in our quarry; the rest is sold to other steel companies as well as other users of lime such as cement companies. Our quarry is located within 400 miles of four great manufacturers who use 95 percent of all the steel fabricated in the plants.

Highlight of the session was the presentation of the Upper Peninsula Lions bowling championship trophy to Alex Creighton, captain of the Manistique team which won the team event at the Nahma tournament in early spring. The trophy, a rotating one, will be suitably engraved with the record of the local team's victory.

A check for $42 also a spoil of victory, was donated by the winning team to the club's sight and blind fund.

The club's board of directors also approved a contract with the Kelly and Morris Circus for a showing here on Thursday, August 2, under the sponsorship of the club.

"The quarry covers approximately 400 acres of land. It is an open excavation where we see a railroad, a number of huge shovels weighing tons, cranes, bulldozers, trucks and electric hoists. Most women are always talking about recipes—do you want Inland's recipe for blasting stone? Here it is: one-fourth of a pound of dynamite for each ton of stone.

"The stone is loaded by huge electric-powered shovels and hauled over the electric railroad to Port Inland, seven miles from the quarry. There the stone is milled in a process of crushing, washing and grading to size over a series of screens, in a continuous travel over belt conveyors to stockpiles.

"After milling, boats are loaded through a series of tunnels with conveyors, with belt conveyors traveling from stockpiles to a loading conveyor. Inland has five large boats that carry an average of ten thousand tons each."

The narrative continues, discussing personnel of the Inland staff and declaring that the firm is progressive because its officials are free to make decisions and carry them out.

With Ray Crandall

"If you want to be a baseball player, you have to prove it with a good arm, hustle and the desire to play. If you don't possess those things you're lost before you start. You can be taught to hit and field. During the next few days there are things we'll be able to teach you, but you've got to show us you want to play baseball. So let's start hustling right now. Every move you make here in the next four days, do it on the run."

Those were the words with which Ray "Red" Lucas, New York Giant scout, greeted the young baseball hopefuls at the tryout camp in Kingsford this week. The advice comes from a man well qualified to point the right path to baseball success. Lucas is highly regarded in baseball circles as a judge of potential talent and those who have worked under him have nothing but respect for his ability. We understand the Giant coaches at the tryouts Tuesday were impressed with the appearance of Escanaba's John Martinac at third base. And likewise the fine work of Don Halverson, left-handed first baseman from Stambaugh.

Add to the growing list of no-hitters in the Upper Peninsula a softball pitching performance shared by two Wakefield hurlers who combined their talents to turn the trick in a City Softball league clash there this week. Their names are Maki and Beling and they beat Montreal 6-0.

Art Daley, sports editor of the Green Bay Press Gazette, reports that Gene Ronzani's auto license number is 7-66666. That adds up to a lot of touchdowns if you're of a superstitious bent of mind.

Billy Joe Davidson, the Cleveland Indians' prize bonus rookie, hasn't exactly been a ball of fire at the Cedar Rapids, Ia., Three-I League farm. In a starting assignment Monday night the 18-year-old $120,000 investment gave up five hits, struck out two and walked six before he was relieved with two out and two men on in the sixth. In a one-inning relief stint at Davenport a week ago he gave the quad-city Tigers three runs on four walks, a wild pitch and a single. His second appearance, against Quincy, Ill., in a relief role last Friday night, saw him give up two runs in three innings.

When Wakefield won the Upper Peninsula high school class C tennis championship in the tournament at Stambaugh recently, it marked the seventh straight year the Cardinals had captured the title. Billy Moyle and Billy Erickson won their third straight doubles crown for the Cards.

Blaney Tops Gulliver 10-3 In Central Loop

With Jack Brawley of Gould City on the mound last Sunday, Blaney defeated Gulliver 10-3 in an Upper Peninsula Central league game.

Brawley also contributed a pair of singles to the Blaney attack on Fred Watson, Gulliver pitcher.

Prep Grid Star Eyes Michigan

Duncan McDonald Of Flint May Enroll

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan's 1951 football stock rose sharply today with the news that a star from Flint is expected to enroll this fall. He's the much sought after Duncan McDonald, looked upon in collegiate football as perhaps the best catch of last season's high school crop of grid stars in this state.

After a six weeks preparatory course at the U. S. Military Academy, the 18-year-old former Flint Northern high star has decided against a military career. The word is he's coming to Michigan.

Would Be Eligible

As a freshman he will be eligible to play on the Michigan varsity under the relaxed Big Ten rules. He looked so good as a prep player that at least four Big Ten schools and several outside the conference had hoped to land him.

MacDonald is just what the doctor ordered for the Wolverines' 1951 championship renewal hopes. The 180-pound six footer is a terrific passer. He will be coming to Ann Arbor at a time the Wolverines are sorely in need of backfield strength that has carried them to four successive Big Ten championships and two victorious Rose Bowl engagements.

Michigan coaches have been looking for a pass specialist to take the place of Chuck Ortmann, the Milwaukee, Wis., wizard, who was lost by graduation.

At Flint Northern, MacDonald's entire experience, however, was with the "T" formation. How he fits into Michigan's championship hopes depends on the success of head coach Bennie Oosterbaan in adapting the youngster to Michigan's single wing style of play.

Pass Wizard

As a "T" quarterback on Flint Northern's brilliant 1950 team, MacDonald earned the respect of coach Guy Houston as the best passer and quarterback ever to appear in Houston's 23-year regime. MacDonald in his senior year at Flint Northern completed 34 of 70 passes for 834 yards and a dozen touchdowns.

The youngster has adaptability and poise. He electrified the spectators in one of the prep thrillers of the past season, when Northern's eventual 15-game winning streak appeared ready to crack in a game with Saginaw Arthur H. Or the last play of the game, MacDonald faded back and pitched a touchdown pass 52 yards into the end.

That's not all the good news for Michigan grid fans. Along with MacDonald, end John Veselenak, tackle Joe Shomsky and guard Jim Wagner will take the field for Michigan next fall.

Yogi Berra Back In No. 1 Catcher Spot

CHICAGO — (AP)—Larry (Yogi) Berra, husky belter of the New York Yankees, today recaptured the No. 1 position in the all-star balloting for American league catchers.

Berra, supplanted in the top spot for 48 hours by Cleveland's Jim Hegan, moved back in the lead with 168,307 votes. Hegan followed with 164,924.

The nationwide poll to pick American and National league lineups for game at Detroit July 10 continues to mark Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal left fielder, as top vote-getter.

Stan has amassed 194,586, followed by Nelson Fox, Chicago White Sox second sacker with 189,444; Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox left fielder, 186,047; and Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn second baseman, 182,193.

Tigers Muff Chance For Doubleheader Last Night

DETROIT—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers muffed a good chance to take a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics last night. They took the opener of a two-night engagement 7-2 but were edged out in the nightcap 5-4 mostly because of sloppy playing. Freddie Hutchinson, posting his fifth victory against two defeats, gave up 11 hits in the first game. Vigil Trucks and reliever Gene Bearden allowed only four hits in the second game but the Tigers virtually gave the victory to the A's by throwing away the ball at inopportune moments.

Arm Okay

Trucks showed no symptoms of the sore arm that sidelined him most of last season and pitched brilliant ball for seven innings before he was lifted for a pinch-hitter. The big right-hander yielded only three hits and walked only one man, but the Tigers were trailing 4-1 when he left the game. Trucks, making his second start of the season, was charged with the loss. He now has a 1-1 record.

The Tigers scored in the second inning of the nightcap on a walk to Steve Souchock and Hoot Evers' double. Then they fell apart as the A's scored four runs in their half of the same inning. Trucks walked Gus Zernial. He struck out Ferris Fain. Then Hank Majeski singled. A single by Lou Klein scored Zernial and sent Majeski to third.

Catcher Joe Astroth smashed one to Jerry Priddy and the Tiger second baseman handled it with ease. But Priddy's throw to the plate was wild and Majeski scored. Pitcher Bobby Shantz dropped a bunt to Trucks who grabbed the ball and threw wild past first base. Klein scored and Astroth went to third. Eddie Joost's fly to right field brought in the fourth run.

Philadelphia scored in the eighth inning on catcher Bob Swift's wild throw to first, trying to pick off Fain with the bags loaded. It let Joost, who had singled to open the frame, score from third base.

Rally Fizzles

The Tigers rallied for three runs in the ninth but rookie right hander Johnny Kucab, pitching in a relief role for the second straight night, cooled them off.

The Tigers chased Shantz with none out when George Kell doubled, Steve Souchock homered and Evers scored. Evers scored when Fain booted pinch-hitter Charley Keller's grounder to leave the Tigers trailing by a marker. Kucab fielded Johnny Lipon's attempted bunt and got pinch-runner Neil Berry at second. Then Lipon was nailed trying to steal. Pinch-hitter Vic Wertz walked, but Kucab retired pinch hitter

Bears Nip Cubs 3 To 1 In Exhibition Game Yesterday

St. Ann's Wins 17th Over Powers By 7-2

St. Ann's baseballers won their 17th game in 18 starts here Tuesday afternoon by measuring Powers 7-2.

Duane Popour allowed two scratch singles for the winners with Bob Dubord serving behind the plate. Bob Rodman collected two hits for St. Ann's and stole a total of six bases.

Jim Sargent went the route for Manager Bob Seering's Powers team.

Little League Film To Be Shown Friday

A film "Little League Baseball" will be shown at 314 Club by the city recreation department Friday afternoon at 1:30, it was announced today.

Public is invited to attend free of charge.

The Escanaba Cubs scored first but were unable to hold their edge and were nipped 3-1 in an exhibition clash with the Escanaba Bears yesterday at the city diamond.

Coach Al Ness' juniors broke a scoreless tie in the third inning when John Martinac, first man up, singled, was sacrificed to second by Paul Gunderman and came home on a line double off the bat of Pete Kutches.

The Bears were using Charlie Camps on the mound at the time but sent Rusty "No-Hit" Hiltonen to the hill in the fifth. Manager Brazeau's ace right-hander allowed only one hit and fanned seven in the remainder of the seven-inning game.

Tied In Fifth

In the top of the fifth the Bears knotted the count with Dean Bailey singling and scoring on a double by Chuck Meyers. The Bears then loaded the bases on young Jack Chriske but had two runners cut off at the plate before Jim Nyquist popped out to shortstop to end the inning.

Hiltonen, on with an error in centerfield, scored after a stolen base on a sharp double by Tom Kroll to put the Bears ahead 2-1. The seniors added another run in the seventh with Doug Peterson scoring after a double.

Peterson collected three of the Bears' eight hits off Chriske while the Cubs were limited to four safeties by Camps and Hiltonen. Chriske fanned seven and walked six. Both teams committed two errors.

American AAU Track And Field Tourney

BERKELEY, Calif. — (AP) — World record holders will assault times and distances here tomorrow and Saturday in the 63rd annual American (AAU) track and field championships.

This meet amounts to a dress rehearsal of the U. S. Olympic team for 1952 and a preview of some of the outstanding foreign competitors.

The 1500 meter "metric mile" field shapes up as one of the best in recent years. Off his surprising 4:08.8 mile winning time in the National Collegiate A. A. championships last week, Michigan State's Warren Druetzler appears the one to beat.

Druetzler is the defending 3000-meter steeplechase champion but is expected to concentrate on the 1500. If so, he will match 4:09.7 to his credit.

FLAT ROCK WINS

The Flat Rock Pioneers shut out St. Joe Boosters 6-0 in an Old Timer league game this week with Francis Smith on the mound for the winners.

Hogan Butchers Par At Jackson, Mich.

JACKSON, Mich.—(AP)—Ben Hogan, playing his first round of golf since he won his third U. S. open championship last weekend, trimmed six strokes off par in a 33-33-66 yesterday at the Country Club of Jackson.

He had five birdies and an eagle in his first trip over the course.

Hogan paired with Chuck Smith, Country Club pro, to defeat Walter Biber, another Jackson pro, and Jake Fassezke of Adrian, former Michigan open champion, 5 and 4, in a best ball match.

Hogan has 15 exhibitions that will keep him busy through July.

Corriveau Hurls Neat One-Hitter

Clairmont Transfer Is S-Ball Victim

Bob Corriveau twirled a one-hit softball gem at Clairmont Transfer last night as his Power & Light team took a 4-2 American League verdict at Memorial field. Joe Sullivan, Corriveau's mound opponent, spoiled the potential no-hitter with a single in the first inning.

Ray Oseen, Power & Light second baseman, led a nine-hit attack on Sullivan with two for three. Bud Kennally caught for the winners, Arnold LeBay for the losers.

Paper Mill Wins

A double by Kennally and a single by Joe Freiden provided the winning runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Paper Mill notched a 10-2 win over Ev's Bar at Dock diamond with Paul Larson and Dave Larson the battery for the winners. Larson scattered six hits as his mates led the way.

Tom Bryak and Earl St. Martin worked on the hill and behind the plate for Ev's. Bryak was nipped for a dozen safeties with Ronnie Noel setting a four-for-four pace, including a triple. Bob Lehoullier also tripled for the winners.

Steve Bryak contributed a three-bagger for the losers.

St. Paul Saints Win Tenth Straight Game

(By The Associated Press) — Pace-setting Milwaukee had better keep its eye on the rollicking St. Paul Saints, who last night ran their victory string to 10 and hopped into third place in the American Association race.

The Saints belted Louisville 6-4 and 9-5, moving to within four and a half games of the Brewers, who blanked Columbus 5-0, as rookie Bert Thiel hurled a three-hitter.

Kansas City kept pace a game and a half behind Milwaukee in second spot with a 7-3 verdict over Toledo. The Mud Hens belted only seven balls out of the infield against the Blues' Arnold Landbeck, whose five-hitter included 17 putouts at first base.

The skidding Minneapolis Millers lost their fourth and fifth straight, bowing in a twin bill to Indianapolis, 13-11 and 7-3.

The Saints broke from a fourth-place tie with Toledo and took third spot from the Millers.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting, Bobby Avila, Indians—hit three home runs and a single for total of 15 bases in Cleveland's 14-8 win over Boston.

Pitching, Warren Spahn, Braves—made Tommy Holmes' first day as Boston manager a happy occasion with five-hit shutout of Cubs, 9-0, in addition to rapping out a single, double and three-run homer.

The Cincinnati Reds' home night games at Crosley Field will start at 8 p. m. this season instead of 8:30 as in previous years.

There are approximately 3,000 PGA members in the U. S., of whom about 2,500 are attached as club professionals.

White Sox Drop 2 To 1 Clash To Yank Bombers

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Chicago White Sox's chances of holding first place on the traditional July 4th dividing line hinge on the next five games with New York and Boston.

If Paul Richards' White Sox can safely skirt the Yanks and Red Sox series on the road they'll go home with a comfortable lead.

How to beat the Yanks was one lesson the White Sox failed to learn from Maestro Richards. Losing seven of 10 to New York cost them a chance to pile up a safe margin. Their lead, once measuring five games, has been whittled to 2½.

Out Of Pitchers, both the White Sox and Yanks fall back on unreliable workmen for today's finale of the current series at Yankee Stadium. Either Howie Judson or sore-armed Saul Rogovin will work for the Sox against Spee Shea, who was treated roughly on relief in the series opener.

Richards got a well-pitched game by Billy Pierce yesterday but lost, 2-1, when the Sox threw

Patty Berg May Have Indian Sign On Babe

PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—Has Patty Berg got the great Babe's number?

"Gosh, no," said Patty. "I've just caught the Babe off balance. She's still the toughest of them all."

Nonetheless, the record is almost all in favor of the freckle-faced from Minneapolis now after she ousted Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias from the Western amateur golf tourney yesterday.

Patty won, one up, for her third victory over the Babe in three match play meetings. She also has a medal play victory over the woman athlete of the country.

Loses Temper

A display of temper on the second hole and loss of poise for the moment cost the Babe her defeat.

She got sore at the photographers and conceded the hole after two off-line first shots. Patty had the edge from there on in, once having the Babe there.

Today it was the lady pros against the lady amateurs for semi-final berths. The field of eight was split up so that the simon pures each teed off against a play-for-play opponent.

Science Writer Tells How To Detect Blasts Of A-Bomb Or H-Bomb

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK — (AP)—The public is being confused these days by many conflicting statements about A-bombs. Here are some of them:

1. The area under an A-bomb explosion is dangerous for hours, days—maybe weeks. (On the other hand, it is said that two minutes after an explosion one can enter the area immediately underneath without danger from radioactivity.)

2. Ships at Bikini were so contaminated they could not be cleaned.

3. After each bomb a radioactive cloud circles the earth several times.

4. The radioactive cloud from a single bomb, exploded over the Pacific, could destroy all life in the United States.

In Three Stages
What is the truth? The No. 4 statement is not true. It never was anything except a theory. Each of the other statements can be true or false, depending on circumstances which are likely to differ from one bomb to the next.

The confusion arises because radioactivity from the A-bomb comes in three stages. First is the flash and ball of fire, emitting gamma rays (they are the same as x-rays). Second the earth, buildings, metal in your pockets or teeth, may become radioactive by transmutation from the bomb's flash. Third is dust and other things that may fall like rain out of the bomb cloud. After an underwater bomb, the rain is real and all of it radioactive.

Only one of these radioactivity perils is a major hazard. This is the flash and ball of fire. This danger is all over within one minute. This gamma ray peril reaches out about a mile-and-a-half from the bomb, in all directions. Up to a mile it can make you sick enough to die in a week or more. After a mile-and-a-quarter it does not do much harm.

No Low Explosion
The second danger, transmutation of atoms of earth and other things on the ground into radioactivity of many kinds, is not possible unless the bomb is exploded close to the earth.

And it is always assumed that the bomb will not be exploded close. The reason for this assumption is that present A-bombs have to be detonated at around 2,000 feet altitude to knock down the largest number of buildings and to set the most fires. At that altitude there is no transmutation on the ground, and no risk from radioactivity right under the bomb after the first minute.

Should the bomb be exploded low down, there will be risk from radioactivity in immediate rescue work. But there will be no risk of death in very short exposures. If the rescue work is monitored, workers will not suffer serious harm, even in an area that remains uninhabitable for months due to radioactivity.

Menace In Dust
Dust dangers are tricky. At Bikini, on the deck of the German heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen, I picked up tiny pieces of metal that had vaporized from warships directly under the bomb. That metallic vapor had been carried downward over the Eugen. The metal fell like tiny hail. This metal was dangerously radioactive (some of mine had a half-life of nine days, which means very high radioactivity). But I was in no danger because I did not keep my souvenirs close to my person. Members of the crew collected bottles of the same hail, without hurting themselves.

After the New Mexico bomb, radioactive dust fell on a herd of cattle, causing hair to fall out of their backs. Some of it never grew again. But no human beings were hurt by this dust. If they got any it was brushed off in time.

That bomb dropped dust in Ohio which afterward fogged some photographic film. There wasn't any danger to human beings. Last winter's Nevada bombs dropped so much radioactivity over the northeastern United States that in some areas the rays were one hundred times greater than normal. Normal means the amount of radioactivity present everywhere all the time. There was not the slightest risk to health in this increase.

No Serious Risk
It is easy to think of circumstances under which people could eat some of this dust, after plants had concentrated it, and endanger their health thereby. But if reasonable monitoring is done—as it already is—there will be no serious risk.

Some physicians have claimed it will be years before we can be sure that these little amounts of radioactive dust are doing no harm. But they assume that meanwhile we will live in the stuff without bothering to detect it.

At Bikini after the underwater bomb, ships decks were so heavily radioactive that a man remaining there five days would have received a fatal dose of gamma (or x) rays. Yet the day after this bomb, men boarded some ships briefly, without harm. They had to stay a while to be hurt.

It is true the ships were not decontaminated. But they could have been. They were not, because decontamination would have been very expensive, and these were vessels the navy no longer planned to man.

The radioactive cloud—which even today is still circling the earth after the Eniwetok tests—is a cloud only by a remarkable stretch of imagination. The cloud is a vast number of radioactive particles, mostly from the metals and the split atoms of the bomb itself. There are countless billions. They are invisible. The cloud is not even a faint haze. Even if you could use a microscope you could not see it.

Can Be Detected
These particles are so lightweight that they float for weeks, months or longer in the upper air. So they are called a cloud. Formerly some scientists predicted that these particles raining down on the earth would be dangerous.

'EASY' DOES IT — Capt. Lewis L. Millett — known as "Captain Easy" to his men—will receive the Congressional Medal of Honor for leading a three-man attack on a Communist-held Korean hill and killing 18 Reds with bayonets. The 30-year-old New Bedford, Mass., officer is pictured relaxing shortly after his heroic action.

Now opinions have changed, to the belief that thousands of A-bomb clouds would not have serious consequences.

The cloud has one great value—for our enemies in particular. They can detect it, just as we can. Just as we can detect an A-bomb that anyone else explodes. And just as we or others can detect a hydrogen bomb and distinguish its cloud from that of the A-bomb alone.

The split atoms of A-bombs are different than the ordinary radioactivity in the air. For that reason they can be identified enough to spot an A-bomb. Similar differences in radioactivity are expected to detect hydrogen bomb explosions.

There is no information whether other nations have set up detectors for our bomb clouds. It can be done easily. We never have said how many atomic explosions from elsewhere we have detected. Nor have we said either the date when we detected the first one, or that we think we had detectors at work in time for the first bomb exploded by another nation.

Annual Festival Is Held At Rock

ROCK — The annual Midsummer Festival held here at the Finnish hall was acclaimed one of the best in recent years by the many persons taking part.

The two-day celebration began Saturday evening, June 16 with a concert presented by the Finnish Savel chorus of Soo, Ontario. The group of 30 voices presented an outstanding and varied program. Two vocal solo numbers were given by Helen Ranta. Patsy Seppala and Eino Tapola of Rock also offered a musical solo with piano and accordion respectively. The chorus was under the direction of Arvo Ketola, music teacher from Soo. A dance was held following the concert.

A picnic dinner was held Sunday noon. Music was furnished during the morning and a part of the afternoon by the Rock Legion band. Rain drove the afternoon program indoors where the Savel chorus gave a repeat performance.

A three-act comedy play "Ruma Elsa" was presented in the evening by the local dramatic club, Reino Kuiskenen sang several selections.

The festivities are held each June by the Finnish people in America, commemorating the similar celebrations held in Finland on the advent of summer and the beautiful nights of the midnight sun.

Visitors attended from Waukegan, Duluth, Iron River, Ironwood, Crystal Falls, Marquette, Ishpeming, Negaunee and Soo, Ontario.

Fayette

Miss Janet Thill came home from Marquette Friday to spend the summer at the home of her parents.

Mrs. Janowski of South Bend, Ind., is spending some time at her summer home at Sunset Cove. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Thill of Detroit arrived Wednesday to spend two weeks with relatives here.

Trenary

Mrs. Charles Zuawski and son, Bill, who has been visiting with her brothers and their families, returned yesterday to her home in Providence, R. I.
